Atlantic Research Group Joins The Pharmaceutical Service Network (PSN)

Staunton, VA August 13, 2009

Atlantic Research Group (ARG) announces its membership into the Pharmaceutical Service Network (PSN), a partnership of small CROs focused on providing exceptional service with extensive local knowledge in a broad geographical footprint. Founded in 1995, the PSN offers full service CRO services with the benefits of working with a small CRO in addition to the depth of experience across an international scale.

The PSN is currently made up of 8 owner-operated CROs in the following regions:

Scandinavia: Klifo A/S (<http://www.klifo.dk>)

Germany, Austria and Switzerland: Medicomp (<http://www.medicomp-cro.de>)

Poland and Eastern Europe: KCR S. A. (<http://www.kcrocro.com>)

United Kingdom: Campbell Charles Associates (2000) Ltd. (<http://www.cca2000.co.uk>)

The Netherlands and Belgium: Mediserv (<http://www.mediserv.nl>)

Spain and Portugal: Sermes CRO (<http://www.sermes.org>)

Italy: The DR Group (<http://www.dimensione-ricerca.com>)

United States: Atlantic Research Group (<http://www.atlanticresearchgroup.com>)

“Joining the PSN offers our clients the advantage of having extensive expertise in each region, a more cost effective option for clinical development, and the benefits of working with smaller focused CROs for their clinical development needs” comments Paul Bishop, Managing Partner, ARG. The PSN applies a flat management structure that allows each member to be flexible and reactive to changing study requirements. All processes and infrastructure have been integrated to provide a seamless operation of each project. The PSN will utilize TrialVista as well as other operational systems to enhance development performance. “We are excited for the opportunity to further collaborate with the PSN partners to provide our clients with additional services and outside of US range while still maintaining the philosophy and identity of a smaller CRO”, says Lyle Camblos, Managing Partner.
